PRESS RELEASE

NZ Bio Forestry's CEO Wayne Mulligan joins Prime Minister's mission to South East Asia.

NZ Bio Forestry will join Prime Minister Christopher Luxon's mission to Singapore, Thailand, and the Philippines next week (April 14-20) with senior New Zealand business leaders.

NZ Bio Forestry, a pioneering NZ/Māori-led company with partners in Singapore and Taiwan, has developed a unique business model. This model integrates forestry and wood manufacturing into higher-value markets in green bio-energy, bio-materials, and biochemistry, using a sustainable circular approach that maximizes the use of resources from the forestry and wood sectors. The company plans to establish 15 sites across Asia-Pacific over the next two decades, with the first sites in NZ.

Wayne Mulligan CEO of NZ Bio Forestry sees this Prime Minister-led mission as vital to furthering New Zealand's connection with Southeast Asia. It will help NZ and its businesses access consumer markets and investment opportunities, allowing them to refocus and rethink new products to meet changing world demand.
